- Project Manager for Schlumberger Information Solutions- Infrastructure Managed Services Strategy in Houston-Texas, 2004-2005.
- Project Manager for Schlumberger Enterprise Services global projects in Aberdeen-UK, 2005-2008
- Project Manager for Collaboration tools, Schlumberger, Aberdeen-UK, 2008 to present

Presentation Title: - Global Project Management

Synopsis

The borders of countries and the limitations in distance and geographic locations are being eliminated due to the fast exchange of information through new ways of communication and over the Internet. Throughout a global structure which includes a collaboration of global business units, global teams, tools and techniques and a consistency of trade divisions, work can be allocated to any country or region.

This presentation will expose the trend on the increase of global business within the organizations and specifically will emphasise global projects which most of them are managed within global environments.

It will explain the importance of an implementation of a global structure on globalization which requires a specific model in order to succeed. The identification of challenges and opportunities on this matter is vital as well as the detection of some aspects while adapting to the new structure and organisation.

The intended audience is directed to Project Managers and Program managers and extended to any Team Members working in global projects, businesses and virtual teams.

Second Speaker: - Robert Hughes, Managing Director, Clarion Consulting UK

Robert Hughes is Managing Director of Clarion Consulting UK, a business and IT consultancy which is part of the Clarion Consulting Group. As Managing Director of the UK operation, Robert is responsible for driving the UK business and managing a team of consultants tasked with delivering a range of services based on programme and project management, IT strategy, business change management and managed resourcing.

Presentation Title: - PMI Survey of Project Management in Scotland results?

Synopsis

Robert Hughes will reveal the topline results from Clarion Consulting's review of project management practices in Scottish organisations. Looking at areas such as organisation, people, processes and tools, he will examine the overall importance of project management to Scottish business and will highlight some of the key challenges faced by project practitioners on a day to day basis.
